SETTLEMENT POSSIBLE FOR N E GAS CASE

New Owners - New Proposals
The General Dynamics Corporation, new owners of the New England Gas Company, are practically in an agreement with the members of the Wilmington Planning Board, an agreement which may lead to a settlement of the long dispute over use of a 36 acre plot of land on Main Street, in South Wilmington.

New England Gas, and the Town of Wilmington have locked horns for several years, in Board of Appeals hearings and in Superior Court, over the use of the 36 acres which the town sold the company, back in 1951.

New England Gas has sought to erect a gas reduction plant, for the manufacture of Oxygen, Hydrogen and Acetylene, and the Town of Wilmington, after first agreeing, has sought to

HOUSING CRISIS FACES SKATING CLUB

Masonic Apartments Pressed Into Use for Quarters

With the list of acceptances for the Eastern Seaboard Speed Skating Championships growing daily, the Wilmington Skating Club is rapidly facing a crisis, in housing for the visiting racers.

Several hundred of the top skaters are expected, at this top event of the season, according to lists now being compiled by Skating Club officials.

The Masonic Apartments, on Church Street, volunteered by Friendship Lodge, AF&AM, are being pressed into emergency use, according to Leo O'Connell Sr., housing expediter.

O'Connell, who lives on Hunt Road, is desperately searching for more space for the skaters and has issued an urgent appeal to the people of Wilmington to allow their spare room or rooms to be used as sleeping quarters, for the two day period, Jan. 23 - 24.

O'Connell's telephone number is 01 8-2780.

ASK FOR REPEAL OF 1959 HOUSING LAW

One of Two Bills Filed in Legislature for Wilmington Selectmen

Representative Frank Tanner of Reading has filed a bill in the current Legislature (House 610) asking for a repeal of the limiting provisions of the law passed in 1959 which restricts towns and cities from requiring over 764 square feet in any house.

The bill was filed in behalf of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, and seeks to repeal the act that was passed at the request of Senator Lappin of Dracut, and Senator Rurak of Haverhill, presumably at the request of the Massachusetts Home Builders, which forbids any town to require homes to be over 764 square feet.

Wilmington's By Laws require that no home be under 800 square feet, and the Lappin-Rurak bill is a sore point with the Wilmington Selectmen.

Seek Change in Tax Appeal Laws

A second bill filed in behalf of the Wilmington Selectmen by Rep. Tanner would change the law with respect to 'appeals' on assessed taxes for real estate.

House Bill 741 would allow a person aggrieved by the refusal of assessors to abate a tax of more than one thousand dollars on a parcel of real estate the right to appeal such tax even though the bill has not been paid in full.

The law at the present time requires that the bill be paid before the appeal be entered, and Wilmington Selectmen say that this provides a hardship for taxpayers.

WEINBERG TO TRY FOR OUTDOOR BARREL JUMPING CHAMPIONSHIP

Mike Weinberg, 17 year old son of Mr and Mrs Meyer Weinberg, of Burlington Avenue, is to enter the competition for the title of old's Champion Barrel Jumper, Junior Class, at Lake Placid, this weekend.

The competition is restricted to boys less than 18 years old. Weinberg, the Indoors Junior Champion, has never before participated in an outdoor Barrel Jumping Championship, a sport which he says is safer than the indoor variety.

The try at the championship will be at the International Speed Skating Championship, at Lake Placid, New York, Saturday.

Other members of the Wilmington Skating Club will be present, and at least a few are expected to be entered in the various events.

THE SIGNORE SCHOOL PROPERTY

One of the subjects discussed in executive session by the Board of Selectmen has had an unexpected twist, recently.

Hush Hush the Selectmen have been discussing the Town Meeting of Oct. 26, 1956. This was the meeting in which the town voted that a need for Urban Renewal did exist, and the discussions started because the Housing Authority believed it had to have the meeting "certificated" as a legal meeting.

Town Counsel Philip Buzzell went over the record carefully, and found some flaws - such as no definite proof that the Finance Committee had had the warrant for that meeting in time to comply with the By-Laws requirement that they give a report seven days before the meeting.

He told the Housing Authority that he could not, in all honesty, sign a certificate to the effect that the Town Meeting in question was a legal meeting, in the meaning of the law.

Then it turned out that the Housing Authority didn't need that certification anyway, because, being constituted back in 1951 they had their own power to declare the need.

But - it was in that Town Meeting that the town voted to buy some land from the Signore development, in North Wilmington, for future school needs. We bought the land, and we paid for it.

So now comes the question? Did we legally buy it?

THE SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

For many years the school children of Wilmington have been eating hot lunches, daily, at a cost of 25¢ per lunch. The lunch has been of high quality (at least 2 ounces protein, and at least one vegetable besides potato) comparable to the type that cost 85¢ in "company" cafeterias.

While Wilmington is just one of many towns and cities that have had this type of luncheon, it has always prided itself on serving better grade luncheons - for instance, while other places have been using powdered eggs, the Wilmington lunches have always had at least 50% fresh eggs.

The key to the cheap (in cost) lunches, has been, of course, the surplus food furnished by the US Government. For a number of years our school department has been furnished with up to 10 cases of turkeys, or 150 pounds of beef weekly - and the results have been shown in the food served.

In fact, the School Department, using surplus money in the Cafeteria Account, purchased a deep freeze, costing about $650 in December of 1957, in which to store excess meats.

But just after the deep freeze had been purchased the quantities of meats being sent to the town began to decrease - so that now the town has to purchase a lot of the meat that was formerly given to it.

There has been no sacrifice on the quality of the luncheons, but the net result is that the money available began to decline.

So this week, for the first time, a charge is being made for the desserts. Dessert now costs 5¢, which will mean a difference of as much as $480 a month in income, for the school lunch program.

The School Department hopes that this income will suffice to overcome the deficit. There will still be occasional free desserts, when fruits are sent out by the overnment, but they

PAY RAISES FOR TOWN EMPLOYEES

All of Wilmington's town employees are to receive increases in pay, according to the budget which the Town Manager has submitted to the Selectmen.

The pay raises have not yet been made public, as the town wage and salary committee has not yet submitted its formal report.

It is understood that the raises may average about $400 for a part of the employees, if not all.

TOWN NOTES

Weather

We are beginning to suspect that the Brown's Crossing Pumping station thermometer is a little high, in its readings.

All of Wilmington woke up to temperatures between zero and five above, Sunday morning, and at the pumping station the thermometer read way up at 11 degrees. It was positively warm!

Only two inches of snow, from last Thursday to Wednesday morning, and that on Jan. 10th

Unbelievable Check

Building Inspector Minot Anderson has a check that has to be seen to be believed.

The check is valid. It has been signed, and has been made out to the Town of Wilmington. But there isn't one figure, or one word on the lines where the amount to be paid is generally written. It is, with no holds barred - a Blank Check.

'I could, if I wanted to, bankrupt the guy' Anderson chuckled, as he exhibited the check to your columnist.

It was drawn by a contractor who is to build a house in Wilmington. Presumably he intended to fill in the amount later - and then forgot.

And Another Check

We shall not identify the people involved, but on the same day that Minot Anderson was exhibiting the check referred to above, a certain Wilmington husband was exhibiting a check to his wife.

It seems that hubby missed some favorite pipe, or other gadget, and went hunting in the trash barrel for it.

He came up, instead, with a check that had been made out to himself and his wife, for the sum of $143.

The check had been endorsed, and anyone could have cashed it.

Friend wife can't explain how the check got into the trash barrel, and friend husband probably wouldn't believe her, if she did.

The Old Oak Will Stand

By a vote of five to two, the Planning Board decided, Tuesday evening, that they would make no attempt on the life of the old Oak Tree, on Burlington Avenue.

A week ago Ray Fitzmaurice pointed out that the tree was an accident hazard. It stands near the Burlington Avenue bridge, and Ray passes it every night, on his way home.

Town Engineer Al Savignac investigated, and wrote a report which said, among other things that the Tree Warden would have to 'post' (i.e. tack a paper on) the tree, declaring a public hearing, in not sooner than ten days.

Then, if one person should appear at that public hearing the tree could not be cut down -- unless a majority of the Board of Selectmen should decide otherwise.

And this being election time no Selectman can be expected to speak for the demise of a noble oak tree - so the Planning Board decided to forget it all.

And Ray Fitzmaurice says he is going to drive the long way round, going home nights.

John in Politics?

One of the more interesting rumors that is running around says that John Elia of North Wilmington is seriously considering being a candidate for the School Committee.

John himself is keeping mum - and for what reason he is running deponent saith not.

Tape Recording

Every now and then we run into a story about some member of some board who is a 'bug' so as to speak, on the subject of Tape Recordings.

William Agreeable Smith, of the Housing Authority must have miles of tape recordings of the Housing Authority meetings. We don't know if he has been doing it lately, but for a long time he never missed to record every meeting.

Down in Wakefield there is a member of the Board of Public Works who uses a tape recorder on occasion. It is quite con- (cont pg 4)

DON GREER FOUND EUROPE VERY PROSPEROUS

Don Greer, President of the Greer Company of Wilmington, found Europe to be in a very prosperous condition, he reports, after having made a tour of several European countries.

Mr. Greer spent the month of December touring on a survey for his company.

'As has been reported by practically every visitor to Europe during recent months there is an astounding degree of prosperity throughout Europe and Great Britain. It is very gratifying to see these people, who for so many years have had an inadequate supply of goods or insufficient funds to purchase them, enjoying better times. The papers in London as I left practically on Christmas Eve, were full of accounts of interviews with store owners and shopkeepers who stated they never had it so good. There was an ample supply of merchandise of all kinds, and of excellent quality, and the people had plenty of money with which to buy it and they were spending their money freely. Everyday London was so crowded with shoppers that they had the worst traffic jams they have had in their history.

I observed the same general condition in France, notably in Paris. Also, in Switzerland and Dusseldorf, Germany and neighboring cities on the Rhine.

My mission was primarily to observe developments in the marketing of food products. This is a field in which our Company is becoming increasingly active. The extent to which frozen foods and the super market or self service idea was catching on in Europe was, therefore, of prime importance to us. I found a radical change had taken place since my last visit in 1955. The market for frozen foods has developed to a point where our Company should further expand its activities to capitalize on the growing demand for its Food Processing Machinery.

All this optimism was tempered by a realization that European Equipment Manufacturers are becoming stronger and are looking with increasing interest towards the American market. Many of these plants are new and their equipment is likewise new and of excellent quality. I found many of our competitors equipped with plants as good as ours and equipped with better machine tools, all financed by American taxpayers. The money is, of course, being repaid but they are in an exceedingly strong competitive position and I feel will give us a very serious competition right here in our own markets. We shall find it exceedingly difficult to manufacture equipment of comparable quality at anywhere near the prices they will be able to sell it profitably here under our noses. This presents a challenge to American business which cannot be ignored.

These challenges and opportunities make it possible for American business to participate to a very substantial degree in the effort to ease world tensions and create a more peaceful atmosphere. The language and methods of business are like music, and international language. There are principles and ethics which are everywhere recognized and understood. I believe that the American business man will rise to the occasion and through more intimate and more frequent contacts with business people abroad can bring to bear upon the world situation the helpful influence of the best of American ideals and concepts of freedom. These can not help but to reduce international tensions and create a friendlier more cooperative attitude.

The J. W. Greer Company has been engaged in international business for over 30 years and inspired by what I have recently seen it is our intention to continue this participation to the maximum degree possible for a small company.

RAILROAD HAS FILED BILL TO DO AWAY WITH BRIDGE

An echo of the long fight over the Shawsheen Avenue bridge maintenance, between the Town of Wilmington and the Boston & Maine RR was heard in the Town Hall, Monday night, when Rep. Frank Tanner, of Reading, drew the attention of Wilmington's Selectmen to House Bill 851, in the current session of the Legislature.

Filed by Rep. Conn of Melrose it is on petition of James E. Milano, and asks for the repeal of Section Two, of Chapter 482 of the Acts of 1948.

Repealing Section Two would leave only Section One as a law, and Section One provides that the Commonwealth, except in certain instances, assume all care and maintenance of bridges.

Tanner told the Wilmington Selectmen that Mr. Milano is an attorney for the Boston & Maine Railroad, and further told them that he has also notified the office of Town Counsel Phillip Buzzell of the proposed legislation.

troverial, in that town, with the member having both defenders and otherwise. Our former Town Engineer, George Winters, now Town Engineer of Wakefield, once refused to give his opinions on some subject, during a Public Works meeting, while that tape recording was working.

All this comes to mind because we have now learned, courtesy of the Woburn Times that a member of the Woburn School Committee is proposing to tape record those meetings. Chairman Donald De Luca (brother of Wilmington's Anthony) didn't like the idea.

Harland Whittredge

Among the spectators at the ice skating meet at Lake Placid, last Saturday and Sunday were Harland and Helen Whittredge, former Wilmington residents.

They had seven of the Wilmington Skating Club members out to their home, at Ballston Spa for supper - Mr and Mrs Weinberg, with Mike and Nancy, and Mr and Mrs McKaba, and Clyde.

Their home, we are told, is an old farmhouse, with two acres of land, which Harland has been fixing up. He grew some fine melons last year, one of them tipping the scales at 16½ pounds - a feat he was unable to accomplish in Wilmington, as his former neighbor Frank Spear, of Hillside Way can testify.

Gas Case

prevent such a plant from being built.

The crux of the arguments were over the location of the 'hydrogen' building, and the disposal of 'sludge' a by-product of the acetylene manufacture. The Selectmen contended that the New England Gas Company sought to place the 'acetylene' building too close to Morse Avenue, while the Planning Board fought strenuously to prevent the company from having a 3 acre dumping area, on their land for the sludge.

New Proposals

Officials of the General Dynamics Company, one of the largest in the United States, which, among other things is the company which builds the Atomic Submarines, at Groton Connecticut, visited the Planning Board Tuesday night with proposals that the Board seems to think are acceptable.

J. M. Yourish, New England General Manager, told the Planning Board that a market has developed for the waste material, which was formerly a bone of contention.

Instead of dumping the material in a 3 acre tract, the company will erect two tanks about 12 feet in diameter and 18 feet high, which will be emptied at about weekly intervals by a contractor who buys all the material. He in turn sells it to cities who use it for their sewer systems. (The material is slaked lime).

The company desires, as soon as is feasible, to erect the three buildings and an office building, all to be of good construction, and probably costing about $2,000,000.

O. M. Randall, Staff Engineer for the company, told the Planning Board that the 'hydrogen' building would be located at the site first proposed, nine years ago, and not the site over which the Selectmen were concerned.

The company, he said, would be employing between 75 and 100 men.

It would need about 4500 KVA of electricity, for electrolysis of water, in the hydrogen manufacture.

There would be no liquid wastes, and no 'sludge' he said.

While the Planning Board did not formally agree to the proposals of the company, they indicated as much, in asking for the proposals to be drawn on a plan for their study.

The plans will be drawn in Chicago, and sent to Wilmington when ready.

$200,000 BUILDING PROPOSED FOR LOWER WOBURN STREET

The Webtex Corporation would build a 30,000 square foot plant, on land now owned by Joseph Lynch, according to proposals heard at the Board of Appeal hearing, in the High School cafeteria, last Thursday night.

Now located in Cambridge, the company wants to transfer its operations to Wilmington, according to Frank Stevens, President. He told the Appeal Board that the company has outgrown its present facilities, and seeks to purchase 9 acres from Mr. Lynch, and 3 acres from the Boston & Maine Railroad, so that a siding could be led to the plant.

The hearing was necessary because of the materials being used - some of which are named in the By-Laws as being 'appeal materials'.

Stevens told the Board of Appeals that none of the materials being used were more dangerous than kerosene, and that furthermore the operation would be a 'closed one' so that there would be no danger of gases or odors escaping to the open atmosphere.

There was a fairly large number of people present, mostly neighbors. Some of the neighbors objected, for reasons of 'Danger' or 'Land Devaluation'.

The Board of Appeals took the case under advisement, pending a report from the Board of Appeals.

If permission is granted, Stevens stated, construction would probably start next summer.

The Planning Board, Tuesday evening, voted to delay for one week's recommendation to the Board of Appeals, on the proposed Webtex Building.

The delay is to allow time for an insurance check on the Cambridge buildings, owned by the company.

SEVEN WILMINGTON SKATERS AT EASTERN STATES OUTDOORS

A tough field of 34 contestants, in the Intermediate Boys Class, prevented any of the Wilmington contestants from winning first place, at the Eastern States Outdoors, at Lake Placid, last weekend.

Mike Weinberg did well, and Clyde McKaba, showing very good form, copped third place in the half mile race.

Paul Lynch Jr., who took a bad spill because of bad ice, qualified for one of the finals, but made no points.

Dick Ring, Wilmington skating coach came in second, in the one mile race for seniors, and came in 4th for the half mile.

In the 3 mile Saratoga Cup Race Dick came in second.

He was awarded the Saratoga Trophy, which has been on the 'block' for many years, and was to go to the first man who won it three times. Dick was the only winner who had taken the race twice, and as the race is being discontinued the cup was awarded to him.

Nancy Weinberg qualified for all the final races, but was unable to pick up no points.

A Pledge

OF HEALTH SERVICE TO MY COMMUNITY

Resolved: My people shall be healthiest best groomed.

It is my professional duty, therefore my obligation to the people of my community, to make available to them the finest and most advanced products of medical science to safeguard their lives or bring them comfort in time of sickness; to bring to them the laboratory products they need for the care and grooming of their persons, and the chemical products that will solve their manifold problems of household hygiene. It is my duty to keep abreast of the new developments in all phases of this health and hygiene project and to disseminate information about them either to the people themselves or to their physicians, or to both, as each case may demand.

Singleness of purpose means dependable service.

I cherish my status as a professional man and the naturally greater fitness it gives me over the lay merchant as a distributor of goods related to health, personal or household hygiene, and goods of a direct chemical association. I shall endeavor, therefore, perpetually to resist encroachment of purely commercial and unsympathetic activities that may dissipate my effectiveness as a technically educated specialist, and shall devote such time and space thus gained to the expansion of those services which fall within the fabric of my professed sphere of specialization.

WILMINGTON SKATERS TAKE SEVEN TROPHIES AT HARTFORD

Wilmington skaters won seven championship trophies, last Saturday and Sunday, during the Hartford Times Speed Skating Championship, in Connecticut.

Dotty Hersom and Joyce Chinn tied for one championship, and became co-winners, in the Juvenile Girls Division, but in the skate-off it was Dotty Hersom who won.

Dotty won the 220 yard race and came in second in the 440 yard race, while Joyce won the 440 yard race, and came in second in the 220, to tie each other.

Janet Perry, of Williams Ave. won her championship in the Midget Girls, winning six points, by coming in first in the 200 yard race and fourth in the 440.

Len Galvin, Midget Boys speedster, was defeated by an unknown, a boy from New York who no one knew. Len came in 2nd in the 220 yard and 2nd in the 440, too.

Another racer who did well in this was Leo O'Connell III.

Marie Hersom, of Burlington Avenue, one of the Hersom trio won the Girls Special Midget Race. She was accompanied by Celia Pushee, who turned in a real creditable performance.

Danny O'Connell won both races in the Special Midget Boys class. In the same races, and doing real well were David O'Connell and Ray Lepore.

Dotty Hersom, skating in the Juvenile Girls division won the 220 yard race, and came in second in the 440, to win the trophy.

Patty Fiske, little speedster from Church St in the Junior Class came in second in both the 220 and 880 yard races. Taffie Pushee, of Washington Ave, also in the same race, made a very creditable showing.

The star of the show was Jeff Williamson, of High Street, who won the Junior Boys, from a large field. He won both the 220 and the 880, and brought home the trophy. Among those who gave Jeff a hard time were Danny Moeglin, who came in third in the 880, and Billy Cotter.

WILMINGTON ROTARY CLUB IS ESTABLISHING RECORD IN ATTENDANCE

Since the first day of September the Wilmington club has a record of 100% attendance, on the part of all members, with the possible exception of Mr. Pipes, and the last week in December.

TOWN BUDGETS

INCREASE $265 THOUSAND

Town Manager Cecil O. Lancaster's budget, submitted to the Board of Selectmen, but not yet made public, is $188,799.63 more than the budget of a year ago.

Coupled with the increase of $86,542.63 in the School Committee budget, the town may expect to raise $265,342.04 for 'budget' expenses in 1960 than it did in 1959.

Several factors are involved in the TM's budget. This year the town will be paying principal and interest on three or more buildings, than it did in 1959. The new Glen Road School and new Police Station and the new Town Garage, and perhaps the new Boutwell Street School will all require more money for debt service.

The Police and Firemen Holiday Pay, voted last year, must be paid this year, both the 1959 and 1960 accounts. Nearly $10,000 is involved each year.

The increased pay for Police Salary Vacations will also hit the 1960 budget. Last year the town voted for a month's vacation for Policemen who have been in the department for over 5 years.

The budget accounts, of course, do not take into account the vote of the Town Meeting on 'warrant' articles, which at the present time are unpredictable, but should not be as large as in 1959.

Only one street remains to be surfaced by the town under the 1957 'special streets' account - Carolyn Road, in No. Wilmington.

COMPLETE TEXT OF THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

It seems that almost every time I visit or hear about the Town of Wilmington something new is being built.

Last year I attended the dedication of the remarkable

AVCO research Center on Lowell Street. This new facility is symbolic of the leadership Massachusetts has taken in the electronic and research industries which loom so large in America's future in this last half of the twentieth century.

It is significant I think, that AVCO was the first industry to locate near an interchange of the new Interstate 93. This new highway is being rushed to completion, and will be a major international link with our Canadian neighbors. In Wilmington alone, this superhighway represents an investment of many millions of dollars in the future of Massachusetts. What it will mean to Wilmington has already been demonstrated. Your town officials and the citizens who serve on the various boards and committees of the Town are to be congratulated for their vigorous and imaginative program of planned development for the Town. As the new Massachusetts highway construction program swings into high gear, I am confident that our cities and towns, supported and assisted by state government action in the field of economic development, can look forward to a great new era of prosperous growth and renewal.

Of course any period of growth and change is accompanied by problems which must be solved, if we are to extract the best from the opportunities available to us. This is true of Wilmington. It is true of all our cities and towns. And it is most certainly true of state government.

In the case of Wilmington, you have recognized many of these problems and are meeting them head-on, a technique, I understand that has even been applied to the problem of regulation gravel removal. (laughter). Speaking seriously however, I am glad that my office could be assistance to Wilmington in helping to provide special legislation sponsored by your board of Selectmen to deal with this problem.

Certainly this very impressive new school that we are dedicating today is indicative of both a problem and a practical, sensible solution. Wilmington is a growing town. And its growth of both population and industry requires major improvements and expenditures to support your planned program of development. Two years ago Wilmington joined the Metropolitan District Commission Sewerage District to provide a needed public facility that will return dividends many times over. It is, I think, a tribute to this community that it has both the foresight to anticipate problems and the courage to apply the necessary solutions.

Take for example, the really startling statistics in your dedication booklet. I see that your Planning Board has undertaken studies which show that Wilmington must expect to build the equivalent of a school a year each year for the next ten years. The important thing here is the fact that you have recognized this challenge and are taking the necessary steps to meet it.

You are not alone, however, in having to confront the problem of population growth. More than 115,000 babies are born in Massachusetts each year -- many of them outside the Town of Wilmington. And as any parent can testify, in an incredibly short time these babies will soon be crowding into our schools and our colleges. These babies, these children, these students, represent the real future of Massachusetts.

Are we prepared to meet our obligations to these children? I would like you to consider some very important facts.

THE GOVERNOR MADE FRIENDS
Shown leaning on the speakers desk, as he spoke, Governor Foster Furcolo made friends with the 250 odd people who heard him speak.

87,000 more Children

By this coming school year, 1960, there will be about 87,000 more children in Massachusetts public elementary schools than there were in 1954. By September, there will be about 55,000 more children in our public high schools than in 1954 -- and by 1967 that figure will increase to 100,000.

Since 1948, $450 millions has been spent for new public school construction. Approximately $200 million more will be spent in the next five years for new schools. And perhaps as much as another $150 million may be required just to replace school buildings which are now unsafe or obsolete.

Property Taxes

Most of the cost of meeting these massive expenditures is raised from local property taxes which must also largely support the operating costs of our school systems. School budgets annually across the state increase to new records of expenditure. Constantly increasing local property taxes are the inescapable result.

At the same time Massachusetts ranks only forty-fourth among the states in the percentage of state financial aid for local education. Massachusetts state government supplies only about 15% of the funds for local education, as compared with 47% for Michigan 48% for Pennsylvania and 38% in New York. These figures help to explain why our local property taxes are the highest in the nation.

The Sales Tax

Beyond any question our capacity to deal with the needs of education is sharply curtailed by the undue reliance of local government on the property tax, for there is a rapidly approaching limit to the burden that can be carried by this regressive tax that penalizes property ownership. It is for this reason that I am asking the General Court to enact a limited sales tax the proceeds from which would be applied immediately this coming year to relieve the local property tax.

Let me tell you of another aspect of the problem of education. As our economy grows more technical and specialized, education beyond high school becomes increasingly important to the future of our children. In order to determine the future responsibilities of the state in this field, the Special Commission on Audit of State Needs, - a special appraisal of Massachusetts' needs in higher education.

This study found that even with the optimum expansion of every existing private and public college in Massachusetts, that we can expect a minimum shortage of 39,000 places for qualified students by 1967. The magnitude of this shortage is shown by the fact that it is about three times the present enrollment of our fifteen state colleges.

Even now we turn away literally thousands of Massachusetts residents from the University of Massachusetts, our state teachers colleges and state technical institutes. We know that many thousands of qualified high school graduates do not continue their education -- a most tragic loss to the economy of the state, since our highly trained population has been perhaps the most compelling attraction for the new high skill industries moving into the state.

The Audit of State Needs also reported that although Massachusetts is the eighth wealthiest state, it ranks forty-ninth in the United States in its per capita support of all public higher education combined.

On the basis of this report and in the strong conviction that Massachusetts cannot afford to abandon its responsibilities in higher education, I recommended to the Legislature that it authorize a major expansion and improvement of all state colleges, and that this be supplemented by a system of regional community colleges.

There has been progress, but it is desperately inadequate. Much more remains to be done before Massachusetts parents can be assured that if their children are qualified and ambitious, they can reasonably expect an opportunity to achieve advanced education.

If the Commonwealth is to measure up to its responsibilities, it must do on the state level what you are doing in Wilmington by preparing to meet crises in education before the problem becomes unmanageable. Certainly in higher education, the crises will be with us long before most of the children in this school reach high school.

While we must meet our responsibilities on all levels of education it does not follow that the Commonwealth and its cities and towns must overspend. Every dollar is important. One of the reasons I am so impressed by this new school, is its obvious demonstration of reasonable economy. There has been an unfortunate tendency for some towns and cities to overspend on physical plant compared with teaching staff. The present system of state aid to school construction at times seems to offer an irresistible temptation to build elaborate and needlessly expensive structures. Instead of being penalized, reasonable economy should be rewarded. Surely there is no good reason why the taxpayers of Wilmington should insist upon effective economy in their own schools, and then through the present system of state aid be compelled to subsidize a much more expensive facility elsewhere. As I said three years ago, our public schools should not be architectural monuments and frills. And this school, more than any other I know, is an example of what can be done.

Therefore, let me say to the Building Committee, and to all the officials and citizens of Wilmington, that I am proud and pleased to have been invited to assist in the dedication of the Glen Road School. I know we all share a common concern to realize a sound approach to dealing effectively with the problems posed by education and growth. You are doing so, in Wilmington.

BOARD OF APPEALS HEARS 20 MINUTE SPEECH

Not since Atty Simon Cutter appeared before the Board of Appeals in behalf of the New England Gas Company has that board had an attorney appear before it, in spite of nearly weekly hearings.

Thursday evening the board listened to an appeal for a variance in No. 1 Wilmington. The appeal was that of the Johnson Realty Trust, which seeks to locate a drycleaning plant next to the North Wilmington Postoffice.

Atty Roland Wood, of North Wilmington represented the appellant.

Mr Wood had his work cut out for him, as it was known that Town Counsel Phillip Buzzell had already given an opinion to the Building Inspector that a dry-cleaning plant would require re-zoning in the district, which is zoned for neighborhood business.

In the course of his argument Wood stated that the Town Counsel should be present to make his statements in person, a point with which the Board of Appeals seemed to agree. Wood entered an objection to the letter being entered into the record.
